I chose Baguio as my subject because of my Fascination of the history that unfolded in this very city. Sure, We have other places to visit because of the history but Baguio took away my breath with the food, the culture and the people. One instance was when we were in the Diplomat's hotel, I actually heard noises coming from on of the rooms. It was said that the hotel housed many spirits throughout the years. And sometimes, you could hear them wail and cry.
